

worldtoor

end of the world from the world

A ONCE IN A LIFETIME JOURNEY...

A select group of the top computer security specialists in the world will be embarking on one of the most extreme adventures ever conceived -- The world's first ever hacker conference to the end of the world in Antarctica.

The Conference

Experience Antarctica on a 13-day Ice Breaker expedition cruise that passes through the Shetland Islands and Antarctic Peninsula. The cruise will be filled with computer security talks and hacking sessions on the 2 days to Antarctica and back and on the Antarctic tour you will encounter leopard seals, penguins, glaciers and icebergs with a world-class team of expert guides and lecturers that will provide context to the sites and bring alive the region's remarkable natural history. You can also join a kayaking excursion to experience the Antarctic from another vantage point or follow in the footsteps of bold explorers and experience the majesty of Antarctica first hand with a camping excursion.

Get There

This conference during this exclusive journey will be provided by ToorCon for FREE. Yes, we said FREE. All you need to do is book your ticket for the expedition and you will receive talks from some of the top experts in the computer security field as well as sponsored parties and dinners throughout the journey for FREE. We are relying solely on sponsor money to fund this conference so if your company is interested in one of the most unique sponsorship opportunities ever, please contact geo@toorcon.org.

Dates

December 10-22, 2012

Travel

13 Days

Ship

Expedition

Max Passengers

126

Highlights

South Shetland Islands
Antarctic Peninsula
Kayaking Option
Camping Option
Spacious Cabins
Private Facilities.

Travel Prices

From $4,499 to $9,299

For more information and booking options, please visit <http://www.worldtoor.org>

